BRUSHES, Tooth, of all varieties	-----	$4.50 to 48	— gross.

Our department for Tooth Brushes is well worthy the inspection of customers. It contains several hundred patterns of the most beautiful description of French manufacture, and of fine durable materials. Many of them are copied from the best English models, samples of which are constantly placed in the hands of our fabricants, and reproduced of equal quality, and at a much less cost. Great attention is paid to the strength of the bristles, and to the firm manner of affixing them to the handles, the true requisites of a really good brush. We solicit orders with the most perfect confidence, feeling sure that our assortment is one of the most complete in the United States, consisting of 3, 4 and 5 row, soft, medium and hard brushes, with plain, carved and fancy handles. They are systematically arranged, each brush having its own number, and buyers can thus duplicate their orders with ease and certainty. New patterns are being constantly received; and at a trifling cost, Brushes can be stamped with the names of any houses who may desire to order a reasonable quantity.

The above remarks apply in a measure to Nail Brushes also.

The great deceptions practised in the introduction to our market of worthless preparations of Capsules, have induced us to import the celebrated Capsules de Mothes, which from their efficacy are fast superseding most other kinds. This maker having uniformly refused to deteriorate the quality, his articles have maintained their reputation for years. The cures effected by them in France and other countries where they have been extensively circulated, and mentioned so often in the foreign journals, are sufficient proof of their great popularity. In Oval boxes, warranted genuine.

CAPSULES DE RAQUIN.....$13.50 doz., or 1 25 bottle

These are of Balsam Copaiwa pure, and without odor, put up in glass, hermetically sealed, and particularly adapted for warm climates. They rank with Mothes in their wonderful properties. Although in a more costly form, yet from their peculiar adaptatiou to the countries for which they are intended, they have superseded all other preparations.

Notwithstanding the wretched imitations in market, the sales of the genuine article are continually increasing.

CAPSULES OF IODIDE POTASH .....
CAPSULES OF GELATINE OR GLUTEN ..... - 75 box

These are hollow, compact, and disguise entirely the most nauseous medicines which they may contain. This admirable invention was first introduced at the Crystal Palace, and is fast coming into general use. 3 sizes in boxes of 100 each.

The prices above named are for good and superior quality, but we have also some of the varieties of superfine, at an advanced price. The great and increasing demand for Bottle and Phial Corks of all kinds have rendered necessary more extensive arrangements abroad than hitherto, for a perfect assortment of this description of merchandise. We were the first to introduce in this market the superfine Phial Corks some years ago, which have given so much satisfaction. Their success have induced us to import homeopathic and Pint Corks of equal fineness, which are quite popular, and are particularly recommended. Since our removal to the new warehouses in Platt Street, we are enabled to devote more room to the proper display of the article. Our corks being imported by ourselves from the countries of production, and packed in small and convenient bales expressly for us, we can sell them, quality being equal, to compete with any lots in market. As far as possible, they are of uniform quality, and numbered in such a way that customers can duplicate their orders by a reference, with the utmost certainty. Our arrangements admit of importing to order any particular shape and quality for special uses, that buyers require, the bales marked as may be directed. Samples will be sent by mail when necessary, at our expense.

Similar to Coxe's in style, but superior in quality, and much cheaper. It is put up in small boxes, in a convenient and tasteful form, and with directions furnished, is considered far more desirable than any thing of the kind yet offered.

The increasing demand for Gelatine, which is fast superseding the ordinary substances heretofore in use, has made it an important item in our business. By following accurately the recipes which we furnish for its preparation, a most delicious jelly or blanc mangé can be made, at a much less cost, and far more agreeable to the taste than those composed of the common kinds of Isinglass, which are often of bad materials, unhealthy, and little better than glue. We specially recommend these Gelatines, which we import and sell by the cask, or in smaller quantities, as may be desired. They are white and red, of thin and transparent texture, but can easily be colored for the table, with proper juices, possessing the whole of the nutriment, without the impurities of the inferior kinds.

These styles of Labels are the most extensive in variety, and desirable for use, that can be obtained in Europe. They are manufactured expressly for us, and for elegance and richness cannot be surpassed. The want of a large assortment of French Labels has long been felt, and we feel sure that our present attractive stock will, from its beauty and completeness, answer the wishes of our customers. We offer labels made in good taste, to replace the sorts become so common. The above list embraces a few only of those now ready for sale. Our stock will be continually increasing, and we are ready to import (when the quantity is reasonably large,) Labels of any given style, with the names of such customers as may desire them, without any extra charge.

All Samples sent by mail when required.

This article is now being very extensively used in the manufacture of brandies. The present high prices of the foreign article, have caused distillers and dealers in liquors to make it themselves from the above oil, which can be done very easily, and at small expense. We furnish valuable receipts to purchasers, and are confident that those who will give attention to it, will find it a useful and profitable article.

The great object on the part of the Drug trade being to obtain pure and strong Essential Oils, we are happy to inform our customers, that a reference to the above list will show them the large variety we import, while, at the same time, the prices conform to the lowest limits of the market. The importation of Essential Oils, and particularly the finer kinds, has been an important branch of our business for twenty years, and of late, sales have increased in a manner surprising even to us.

With increased facilities to do justice to our friends, we merely ask for a continuance of their confidence, and a fair comparison with other stocks in market.

For the alleviation and cure of Bronchitis, Hoarseness, and other pulmonary complaints so prevalent throughout the country.

The well deserved popularity of this article hardly needs comment. It is really invaluable, and has for years obtained a preference over many other medicinal preparations for diseases of the throat. Various imitations having been offered under the same title, against which the public are cautioned, the genuine have our own name upon the band around each box, as the original importers.

MATICO.

1524 14

MATICO, OR THE PERUVIAN STYPTIC.

---

This powerful vegetable Astringent was first made known to the Medical Profession of England, by DR. JEFFREYS, of Liverpool, through the medium of The Lancet, so far back as January 5th, 1839.—See his Letter in that Periodical Publication. Since that period, he has after much trouble, inconvenience and expense, used every means in his power to extend its use and confirm its efficacy; and can now, with confidence, recommend its notice to his Medical Brethren, as a valuable Styptic externally, and as a powerful Astringent internally. It will also be found a safe remedy in the hands of those not of the Faculty to suppress Bleeding from Wounds, Leech Bites (so often difficult to stop in delicate children), and from accidents, where profuse haemorrhage may be either troublesome or dangerous; and has been successful where more severe and painful means have failed. Several hundred specimens were distributed to the Members of the Provincial Medical and Surgical Association, at their Anniversary Meeting, which was held at York, in the month of August, 1841; and a Paper on its history and power was published in the Transactions of that Society (vol. xi.), which appeared in May, 1843.

During the last two years (viz., 1844 and 1845), this medicine has been extensively prescribed by several of the most eminent of the Faculty in London, and its efficacy in Leucorrhœa and other female complaints may now be considered as established.

As a powerful Styptic in gun-shot wounds, Matico has long been known in South America, where it has acquired the name of the Soldier's Herb: and it may be mentioned, that a good deal has lately been shipped for the use of the Armies in India.

Manner of Using it Externally.—To Leech Bites apply the inner side of the leaf, keeping the finger pressed close upon it for a few minutes, until it adheres firmly to the part. The same mode is also suitable for Cuts or recent Bruises; but if to a flat extended sore, the Powder may be sprinkled upon it, and lint, made wet with the Tincture placed over it. In Bleeding from the Nose, the Powder, used as snuff, has been found speedily efficacious.

Use Internally.—It may be taken in Decoction or Infusion, made from one ounce to one ounce and a half, in severe cases, and given in doses of two or three tablespoonsful, according to the urgency of the symptoms; but in such cases it should not be taken without the direction and regulation of its exhibition by a medical man.

N. B.—As there is not only a spurious Herb sometimes offered for sale, but also an inferior sort met with in the market, the first of which is quite inert, and the latter ineffectual, the public are earnestly warned not to use any but that which is genuine, and which is now well known.

OPINIONS OF THE PROFESSION.

"Incola ad gonorrhœas et ulcera cancriosa a lue venere nortas, extirpandas decoctum afflatim hauriunt.—Flora Peruviana."

"A lady of my acquaintance has taken up the subject very enthusiastically; and having cut her finger, applied the leaf of the Matico, and found that it was the underside of the leaf alone which possessed the styptic quality. I find on trial she is correct in her statement."—

DR. HENDRICK, Warrington.

"I consider, from the comparatively limited scale of experiment, that it has proved decidedly efficacious as a remedy in the subjoined instances; so much as to warrant my confidence in it, as a valuable addition to our stimulant and astringent class of remedies. I need not go into any particulars, but simply to give the nature and number of cases wherein on trial it has answered the expectations your account led me to form of its virtues:—

	Cases.
" Blenorragia.....	5
Vaginal Leucorrhœa.....	3
Uterine do (coujioned with a rubefacient liniment over the loins). . . . .	1
Hæmaturia.....	1
Hæmorrhage from the bowels.....	2
Cynanche Tonsillaris .....	2

And successful as a styptic in case of nievus, after removal by double ligature, where one or two small vessels proved troublesome on its coming away. I used it internally and externally, in general, according as the case admitted of it, in both instances confining myself to the one mode of exhibition by infusion."—DR. G. C. WATSON, Surgeon to the Liverpool Lying-in-Hospital.

"From these cases" (of arrested haemorrhage) "I cannot doubt that the Matico has most decided qualities, and that it may become a very valuable addition to our Materia Medica."—

DR. MONAO, Surgeon to the Dundee Infirmary.

"The bite of a leech, which was applied to the chest, bled profusely, and resisted the usual means of stopping it: but by placing a piece of leaf on the bite, and keeping it fixed by the finger for a few seconds, the hemorrhage totally subsided, much to my satisfaction, and to the astonishment of the child's friends."—DR. R. W. SCOTT.

"The following may be adduced among others, as cases in which the Matico was of the greatest services:—

	Cases.
" Gonorrhœa.....	3
Leucorrhœa.....	5
Menorrhagia.....	2
Hæmorrhoids (very severe). . . . .	1
Epistaxis.....	1
Catarrhus vesicæ.....	1"

DR. DICKINSON, Liverpool.

"In confirmation of the good effects of the Matico in intestinal haemorrhage, I may mention a severe case of sanguineous dysentery. There is a profuse discharge of pure blood, with scarcely any feculent matter in the stools. I immediately prescribed a decoction of the Matico, in the proportion of a half an ounce to the pint, and directed three tablespoonsful every four or six hours, three doses of which completely suppressed the haemorrhage.

"I may also mention that the daughter of the last patient was attacked with laryngitis, for which ten leeches were applied with great relief; but the oozing of blood from some of them could not be staid; I immediately applied compres es made wet with the decoction ordered for her father, and the good effects were almost immediate."—DR. JEFFREYS.

"I must express my earnest praise in favor of Matico, having tried it in about ten cases with complete success. It has often succeeded after all other styptics had failed."—SAMUEL WOOD, Esq., House Surgeon, Salop Infirmary.

DR. SOMMA, of Antwerp, has used it in several cases of haemorrhage and gonorrhœa, with advantage.

"I never saw any remedy act so beneficially; and I must think it a most useful addition to our Pharmacopeia. I believe that Matico will be handed down the stream of time, and hailed in ages to come as a blessing to society"—W. H. BAINBRIGGE, Esq. Surgeon to the Northern Hospital.

The Matico, or Matica, so highly esteemed in Peru, Dr. Martin believes to be a species of Phlomis. The tree grows in the interior of Peru; also on the other side of the Andes.

"Its leaves are said to possess marvellous medicinal properties. The preparation for use among the Indians is very simple; the leaf is dried and finely powdered, and the dust sprinkled on wounds, is said to effect cicatrization very speedily. The Indians use an infusion of the fresh leaves as an aphrodisiac, and also attribute to them the power of arresting haemorrhage even if a large vessel be wounded."—The Medical Times.

"The Matico has been tried here in cases of leech bites, with admirable success; and so far, I can add my own knowledge of its superior efficacy in arresting haemorrhage, I have succeeded immediately with it, and in one case where the usual applications had entirely failed."—

PROFESSOR PAYNE, New York.

"From the little experience I have had of the effects of the Matico, I consider it a valuable medicine, and shall try it more largely, particularly in extreme haemorrhage."—

THOS. HAFFENDEN, Esq., Surgeon, Hanwell.

"These cases, of themselves, would, I confess, not satisfy me of the styptic properties of the Matico; but with the published analytical evidence, and that derived from the experience of other members of the profession who have made trial of it, they give me great confidence in its alleged powers, and lead me to expect that ere long it will be regarded as one of the most valuable of our medicinal agents."—MR. GAY, Surgeon, London.

"I have great pleasure in bearing testimony to the efficacy of the Matico in arresting haemorrhage, as my partner, Mr. Blake, has used it six times, in a case of cancerous ulceration of the womb, during the recurrence of the bleedings, and each time it has completely stopped the haemorrhage."—BENJAMIN VALANCE, Esq., Surgeon, Brighton.

Among a number of other gentlemen who have given their testimony to the importance of this medical agent, are—Dr. Hunter Lane, Mr. Eccles, Dr. Kiugdon, Mr. Oswald, Dr. Davies (Warrington), Mr. John Marshall, Mr. Neill (Liverpool), Dr. W. H. Cullen, Mr. J. A. Edwards, Mr. H. C. Attenhurrew, Mr. Johnstone (Liverpool), Mr. Long (Liverpool.)

MUSK.

From our agency in Canton we are constantly receiving this article. The quality of that in grain is 25 per cent. superior to any heretofore imported. It is neatly put up in metallic cans, covered with Chinese paper, and sold by the case, or in any quantity required.

NANKIN INK.

The article which we now offer for sale was sent to us by our agent resident in China, as being the finest article that could be procured in Nankin, where all the best ink is manufactured.

SPATULAS.

Country purchasers are cautioned from whom they buy this article, the greater proportion of those which are now sold in this city for English, are an inferior German article, principally with redwood handles (instead of cocoa, like the English), and the steel is much inferior in point of quality and elasticity. They are, too, but a trifle cheaper in price.

VANILLA.

To flavor custards or puddings with vanilla, tie a piece of the bean in a muslin bag, and throw it into the milk while boiling. The same piece may be used twice or thrice.

GUM ELASTIC PESSARIES—VULCANIZED.

"A GARIEL."—Patented.—We would call particular attention to these Obstetric Pessaries, which are a new invention, and for their texture, durability, neatness, and perfect adaptation for medical purposes, must in time entirely supersede the common and old-fashioned kind.

These are the first ever imported to this country, although in Europe they are getting into great repute. They are made in various patterns, and of the finest workmanship.

BROWN'S ESSENCE OF JAMAICA GINGER.

The primary effects of this valuable preparation are experienced in its gentle stimulative influence in the stomach, and thence diffusing itself through the whole system. It is excellent in all nervous and hypochondriacal affections, some of the most evident of which are an oppression or sense of weight, and flatulency, succeeded by nervous headache, giddiness, &c. These it removes by acting on the stomach as a gentle stimulus, diffusing a mild and cordial warmth, gradually exhilarating the nerves and giving tone to the digestive organs. It is also useful in chronic rheumatism, lumbago, &c., as an external application to the parts affected. When applied externally, it should be mixed with an equal quantity of brandy or spirits.

In flatulency, or want of tone in the stomach, half a tea spoonfull may be taken twice or three times a day, before meals, in sugar and water, and when the stomach feels oppressed after eating, or distended by flatulency, about twenty or thirty drops of the essence in a wine glass of water or wine, invigorates and assists digestion. It is excellent in sea-sickness, in restoring the tone of the stomach.

ORIGINAL FRENCH GELATINES,

PINK AND WHITE TRANSPARENT IMPROVED GELATINE,

An economical preparation, superior to Calves' Feet and Isinglass, for Jellies, Blanc-Mangé, Soups, Gravies, Cookery, Preserves, &c. Jelly is made with the greatest facility in a few minutes, possessing the whole of the nutriment without the impurities of the Calves' Feet. These Gelatines are warranted to keep good in any climate.

French Recipes for Making

JELLY AND BLANC MANGE.

WITH WHITE OR PINK

FRENCH GELATINE.

Jelly.—To two ounces of Gelatine, put two pints and a half of water, half a pint of sherry wine, the rind of two lemons, grated, with the juice of three, half a pound of white sugar, and the whites and shells of three eggs beaten together. Put all the ingredients together cold, and stir frequently until they boil. Then pour into a suspended Jelly bag, and it will strain through quite clear. If it should not be perfectly clear, pour back what first passed through it, and let it drip, but do not squeeze the bag. Color with saffron or beet juice. In warm weather, place in a refrigerator as soon as cold.

Blanc Mange.—To two ounces of Gelatine, put three pints of good rich milk. Flavor according to taste, with essence of lemon, cinnamon, ratafia, or vanilla; sweeten with white sugar. Place all on the fire cold, and stir frequently until the Gelatine is dissolved. Then strain it, and when partially cold pour into the moulds.

To make a Good Jelly.—Add a pint of water to three-fourths or one ounce of Gelatine; let it stand five minutes to soften, then simmer, stirring it while dissolving; add four ounces loaf sugar, a small piece of cinnamon, the peel thinly cut, of one lemon, and the juice of two. Boil all together, adding two glasses of white wine, or one of brandy or rum, and then strain into a shape.

To make a Blanc-Mangé.—Add a pint and a half of milk to one ounce of Gelatine; let it stand five minutes to soften; then add half a dozen blanched bitter almonds cut in pieces, and the thinly cut peel of half a lemon; sweeten with loaf sugar; simmer all together, and strain into a shape.

ALBESPEYRE'S BLISTERING TISSUE.

An Adhering Substance, to produce a Blister without Plaster.

---

This Blistering substance ready prepared upon glazed oil-cloth, is extremely convenient for physicians, apothecaries and patients. It adheres to the skin producing a blister in a few hours, (12 hours at the most). The same piece applied four or five times produces the same action. These valuable qualities have procured for Albespeyre's Blistering Tissue the approbation of the principal physicians of France and other countries.

It is only necessary to cut the piece of the form desired, and apply it to the skin by the black side.

NOTE.—If there be no great inconvenience in applying a blister on one's self in trifling indispositions such as rheumatism, sciatica, gout, diseases of the eyes or ears, ringworm, or other diseases of the skin, asthma, catarrhs, &c., &c., it is better, nevertheless to consult a physician to ensure the best possible results. "This Blistering Tissue," say Professors Mérat and de Len, "needs to be applied by an experienced and able hand." "It produces great effects, particularly if the blister remains open and flows freely a long time.—Treatise of Professor Géry.

Brown's English Blistering Tissue is but an imitation of the above.
